Course title	Introduction to the language expectations of the course and Academic Environment I (ENGF100)
Course type	Required
Level	Foundation
Year / Semester	1 st Year / 1 st Semester
Teacher's name	Anastasia Miltiadous
ECTS	N/A	Lectures / week	2	Laboratories / week	N/A
Course purpose	Course Purpose
and objectives				ns on a wide by will gain a he expected or receive an ag academic will be placed and online.  cessary for engaging in for achieving the academic emphasizing and online academic the resources the resources the resources academic the sacademic the sacademi

8. Facilitate the integration of acquired language skills, study strategies, and academic knowledge into practical academic tasks, such as essays, presentations, and discussions. 9. Promote peer learning activities and the formation of study groups, fostering collaborative learning environments for mutual academic support. 10. Prepare students comprehensively to navigate the academic environment confidently, ensuring readiness for ongoing success and growth in Higher Education. Learning outcomes By the end of this course, students will be able to: 1. Demonstrate an understanding of the significance of listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills in achieving academic success: 2. Apply techniques to comprehend main ideas in texts, effectively summarize content, and extract key information from academic materials: 3. Identify and describe the expected language competencies in listening, speaking, reading, and writing: 4. Acquire an orientation to Higher Education life, comprehend academic culture, and grasp the expectations in academic settings; 5. Recognize and adhere to the principles of academic integrity, understand research ethics, practice proper citation, and avoid plagiarism. 6. Implement strategies for effective time management, develop study plans, and employ study skills tailored for academic success: 7. Familiarize with various on-campus and online academic resources such as libraries, databases, and research tools, and navigate them effectively for academic purposes. Course content 1. Understanding Language Expectations Introduction to language expectations, emphasizing the importance of key skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing for academic success; Techniques for understanding main ideas in texts, summarizing content, and extracting key information from academic materials: Practices for active participation in discussions, expressing opinions, and articulating feelings with clarity on diverse topics. Detailing the expected language competencies in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. 2. Academic Environment Orientation Orientation to Higher Education life, academic culture, and expectations in academic settings. Understanding the principles of academic integrity, research ethics, citing sources, and avoiding plagiarism. Strategies for effective time management, study planning, and developing study skills tailored for academic success. Introduction to various academic resources available both on-campus and online, including libraries, databases, and research tools. Teaching The course will prioritize a student-centred approach to learning, thereby methodology enhancing the students' understanding and engagement. Language, techniques and information will be presented to, and practiced by the students concurrently, through weekly opportunities for learners to work with each other throughout the course. All students will undergo the Orientation process.

Bibliography	Required Textbooks:  Paul Dummett, Reflect Listening & Speaking 4, 1st Edition, 2022, National Geographic.  Christien Lee, Reflect Reading & Writing 4, 1st Edition, 2022, National Geographic.  Rachel Finnie, World of Grammar and Writing 4, 2nd Edition, 2019, National Geographic.  Online Resources/Activities through the National Geographic website Additional Material:  Peter Hollins, The Study Skills Handbook, How to Ace Tests, Get Straight A's and Succeed in School (Learning how to Learn), 2021, Pkcs Media, Inc.  Dr. Stella Cottrell, The Study Skills Handbook (Palgrave Study Skills), 2008, Palgrave Macmillan.  The College's Documentation regarding orientation to Higher Education life and academic culture.  The College's academic resources available on campus and online.
Assessment	academic culture.  The College's academic resources available on campus and online.  Authentic Academic Material  Continuous assessment methods are designed to offer a holistic view of students'
	Ianguage development.  The assessment of students is made up of two components:
	<ul><li>final exam (50 marks)</li></ul>
	<ul> <li>continuous assessment (50 marks)</li> </ul>
	The 50 marks of the continuous assessment is comprised for example of:
	<ul> <li>quizzes and tests</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>homework assignments</li> </ul>
	<ul><li>participation</li></ul>
	The final written exam carries 50 marks and takes place at the end of each academic semester. This exam tests the whole content of a course taught in the current semester. The final mark for each course is the sum of the continuous assessment mark and the final written exam.
Language	English				